Despite repeated enemy thrusts on both sides of the Ancre, and especially against Thiepval and northwest Pozieres, our gallant troops under command of Gen, von Stein and Gen. Baron von Marshal maintained all their positions. Ground which was lost temporarily near Mouquet farm was reconquered by a rapid counter attack. Further to the east our strong artiflery held the enemy to his trenches Only at night did the enemy succeed in an attack at High wood, but later he was repulsed. After fire prepara-tion, which exceeded all expenditure of ammunition known up to now, combat developed between Ginchy Somme and was waged until the late night hours. The heroic resist-ance of Gens, von Kirchbach and Von Fassbender disputed the advance of the enemy and halted the advance the second line after the enemy had entered and destroyed completely a first line trench and each yard of terrain. Guillemont and Porest are in the enemy's hands. South of the Somme our artillery succeeded in frustrating all enemy attempts to advance, and in the dis-trict southwest of Barleux the attack-ing enemy was sanguinarily repulsed.
